The 19th International Human Rights Film Festival [FICDH] kicks off with a focus on migrant identity

:: May 27-June 2, 2021 · Online ::

The Instituto Multimedia DerHumALC [IMD] is pleased to announce the beginning of its 19th International Human Rights Film Festival [FICDH], from May 27 to June 2, in a fully online edition focusing on migrant identity, with the motto Roots in Motion.

This year and for the first time ever, the [FICDH] is launching its own streaming platform to showcase festival content: http://www.imd_stream.org (for users in Argentine territory only). This platform is the result of a partnership between IMD and the independent Italian entity SMK Videofactory/OpenDDB, a VOD (Video On Demand) open source content service, which co-designed this first streaming network of independent festivals in Latin America. All festival-related information—catalog, program, special activities, Schools section—is hosted in the Festival website: <http://www.ficdh.imd.org.ar>

Online exhibition “Migration is a Right” - CELS - Center for Legal and Social Studies

#migrasesunderecho (migration is a right) is made up of images by 22 amateur and professional photographers from different countries of the region, selected among over 190 works submitted to the contest “Memoria fotográfica: migraciones y DDHH en América del Sur” (Photographic memory: migration and human rights in South America), an initiative by CELS, Center for Legal and Social Studies. The jury was made up of the photo collectives Turma, M.A.f.I.A., Emergentes and Subcoop.

Online, interactive exhibition, soon to be available on our website: www.ficdh.imd.org.ar

SCHOOLS SECTION

More than 25 schools from the Metropolitan Area of Buenos Aires will be present in this edition of the International Human Rights Film Festival. The Schools Section includes a selection of international short films and around 40 audiovisual works entirely made by young students.
